A crowd of 750 fans watched Willford pitch himself to victory at a 4 to 2 clip against his former teammates, the Comets, in yesterday's game at Riffe's. And he was flinging some ball, too. Oswalt kept pretty close to Willford's heels in the flinging contest, and the game put up by the locals would very

The game was featured with many brilliant plays, and the double by out strongly among them. With one down Bradley singled and Burton drew a pass. Oswalt balked, putting the runners on second and third. The score at this point of the game was 2 to 1 in the visitors' favor. Mann stepped to the plate and tried to squeeze Bradley in, but Dietz lost no time in fielding the bunt, threw to first, where Bacom tagged Mann ten feet off the base and returned the ball in time to catch the runner at home. In the last half of that same inning Willford pulled himself out of a tight Black had singled, Oswalt fanned, and Sackett had received a pass, when a passed ball put the runners on second and third. Dietz's bunt went safe, when Black refused to run on his orders for a squeeze and the bases were filled. Willford fielded Wintz's grounder and threw Black out at the plate. Cook then failed to connect, fanning for the curtain sig-

Nebraska City registered one in the first. Bradley walked and Burton sacrificed him to second. He took third on a passed ball and scored on Manns' fly to DeCamp. Hicklin's fly to Cook furnished the finish. Their second Nee singled. Woodruff was cut off at choice, Nee being forced out at second. Herman singled scoring Hicklin, and Willford fanned.

Oswalt started the Comets in the fifth, when with two down he reefed a three-bagger into right. Sackett Auburn010000201-4 7 1 popped a short fly back of second base, which fell safe when Hicklin. Braic, Woodruff and Burton each begged the other to field it. This put Oswalt safely across.

three is plenty good enough. Willford said: "Dietz, I like you fellows and I like your little town down there, but I can't play for $75. I never have and I can get more money right now." The extra twenty-five sent him away from Maryville and lost a good many games for the Comets.

Walter Wray was taken to Auburn with the team and will be worked out in one of the three games there.

SACRED CONCERT WAS OF UNUSUAL MERIT

The sacred concert given at the Presbyterian church Sunday night by Miss Mildred Morrison, assisted by Mr. Ralph Eversole and the choir, was of unusual merit. The church was crowded with admirers of Miss Morrison's who wished to avail themselves of the only opportunity to hear her sing during her present stay in town. And it certainly was a pleasure to sit and listen to the clear, rich tones of her gifted voice. One of Miss Morrison's strongest points, found in few singers, is her ability to choose selections of the highest class which give the greatest range of her voice and which are at the same time pleasing to any audience.

Miss Morrison was most ably accompanied on the organ by Mr. Eversole and the solos also played by him were appreciated as usual for their merit and execution.

The entire program harmonized and was fitting for the occasion, and many of the congregation were loth to leave at the close.

MARYVILLE HOTELS WILL GET 100 BIBLES

Two representatives of the Gideon ere in Maryville Sunday to see about placing a Bible in every room of the hotels of the town,

The Gideons were organized twelve years ago among the commercial travelers of America, and their purpose is purely Christian organization for the traveling men. Two years ago they undertook to place a Bible in each of the 500,000 hotel rooms in this country, and today they have 125,000 of these libles placed throughout the country. They are now putting Bibles in the hotels at the rate of 60,000 per

The members of the Gideon band furnish these Bibles by their own efforts and ask for no contributions of any kind. They receive a great amount of belp, however, from outside people who are interested in the work

The Bibles are especially interesting in that each one has pasted inside the front cover a set of references which apply especially to the traveling men -references which apply in cases of poor sales, generally bad business con-

Washington, D. C. June 15 .- Mt Hamlin is still having a good time with that $1,600 discrepancy in the many doctors diagnose the case and has collected an interesting batch of explanations but he basn't located the coin yet. It seems to be harder to find than the buried treasure that "Der Captain" and his pirates are seeking in the funny paper.

He has had a score of little fellows on the stand and he has examined the great Mr. Root of New York, formerly secretary of state. Mr. Root, in a very careful series of answers to Mr. Hamlin's questions, explained that he had investigated the matter and found it all right, but he didn't know where the money went. Secretary Knox has ther does he know anything not in the pay for some transaction approved by Secretary Hay. There is no evidence of his approval and Secretary Hay is

The really interesting developments however, have been in connection with the finding of the lost voucher. It disappeared over five years ago and has been much sought after, but it couldn't be located. It was found a few days ago, and where do you suppose it was? Right on the floor among some waste papers near to Disbursing Clerk Morrison's desk. The room is cleaned up every day; the voucher disappeared five years ago. Mr. Morrison can give no account of whither it went nor whence it came. Like the winds, it cometh and it goeth, but beyond that no man knoweth.

There is plenty of evidence that the picking has been rich for some of those near the feed trough. Through the goodness and abiding faith of the American public reckless extravagance riot while some have indeed been al to lie down in green pastures. In arranging to hang some pictures of former speakers of the house a few days ago the chief clerk found that the name plates that are attached to them had heretofore been billed at $7.50 each. He is getting better ones now at $2.50. This is merely one of numerous instances.

The star performer in the congreswho is helping to make Milwaukee fort, and although he proposed to prove in five minutes that he is no orator, he was given the closest attention by almost the entire membership. His voice is not strong, and as he speaks with a decided "Milwaukee accent" many members left their seats and crowded around him to get the full force of his utterances It was something new, and he wa given such a hearing as is rarely acthe Republican side of the house and in time allotted to him by Hon. Sereno E. Payne of New York, but he gave scant comfort to that side of the house. He repudiated the idea that protection benefited the working man, and said that though everybody else had protection written into the tariff law, the only protection the working man gets is when he commits a crime. "Then he gets protection in jail"

"In every manufacturing state," said he, "the manufacturer demands and home trade. Demands it in the name of patriotism. They are all patriotic "In the steel mills of Pittsburg, Chicago and Milwaukee where thirty years ago the so-called princes of labor used to get from $10 to $15 a day, the modern white coolie gets $1.75 for twelve hours a day, seven days in the week, having no time to praise the Lord-and no reason tion, because it tends to destroy the court is in SESSION tion, because it tends to destroy the to break down the barriers between nations, and to bring into closer relations the various people of the world, I shall support the bill," he said.

The most effective speech that has been made thus far on the tariff ques tion was made the other day by Hon. William C. Redfield of Brooklyn, N. Y. another new member. Mr. Redfield is a business man and spoke from a business man's viewpoint, one who had studied the question in all its aspects as affecting his interests. He is large manufacturer of machinery and engines, and as a manufacturer de clares that protection is a fraud. He is the sort of business man that knows what every department of his business and every room is doing, whether it is shoving a profit or a loss.

Mr. Redfield sells his products in all parts of the world and has visited and studied the conditions in all the principal countries. He declares that, notwithstanding the higher price, American labor is the cheapest in the world. He arbmits figures to prove it by show.rg how many men it takes in the home of William Yeary at Raven different countries to produce the same work that is turned out by one here as Clifford. skilled mechanic in this country. He shows that no other country has so larceny, was given six months in the many isbor saving machines; no other county has as effective, rapid and cheap means of transporting freight: been before the committee and nei- in other countries a certain percentage of loss from drink must be figured records. Mr. Michael, the former chief in the cost; that in some countries, who was appealed to, has been heard after a Sunday's debauch, it is imposfrom. He says the $1,600 was used to sible to get a full working force before Wednesday morning, and various considerations that do not usually enter into comparisons in the stereotyped tariff speech

He exposed a number of other important elements of cost, such as excessive salaries to officers, profligate office expenditures, etc. It was a careful analysis of a great question by a man whose great business success tection and is well worth reading by any one who desires to get at the meat in the cocoanut.

The bill providing for direct election of United States senators passed the senate about 30 o'clock Monday evening. They got in a full day's work on this particular day. The bill, how-ever, was venkened to such an extent by an amendment submitted by 3enator Bristow of Kansas that it is a question whether it will be accepted by the house or ratified by a sufficient number of states to make it effective as a constitutional amendment.

The fine Italian hand of some of the Republican leaders is seen in this amendment. Knowing they could not defeat it as it came from the house, they hoped to do indirectly what they could not do directly. This was the means taken to defeat the bill in the senate last session, and because of the Sutherland amendment it did not get through the senate. Mr. Bristow voted against that amendment, but seems to have experienced a change of heart, as sional drama yesterday was the Hon. the amendment he proposed is almost identical with the one proposed by Senator Sutherland.

Professing to believe that the states with large colored populations may rot accord to the colored brother his full measure of participation in the selections of senators, they propose to place these elections under federal supervision. This violates a principle as old as the states themselves. The matter of electing senators and representatives to congress belongs entirely to the states and should be left entirely with them. Hampering it with federal supervision is entirely foreign to the original purpose of the proposition, which was to give to the people of each state full and free opportunity to express their individual preferences at the ballot box and to make them effective.

The vote upon this amendment was a tie, and it required the vote of the vice president to carry it. A question has arisen as to whether he had the right to vote on a question which in itself is not legislation, many of the ablest lawyers of the senate assert ing that he nad not. Senator Reed of Missouri moved to recall the bill from the house in order to thresh out that question and was beaten by a tie vote on that. It is a memorable victory, in view of the long fight that has been waged for it, to get this much of a concession from the senate, but if the house should not accept the amendment, he proposition will yet win. If not during this congress, then in some future ouc.

Mrs. Marion Trullinger was very happily surprised at her home, one-half mile northeast of the city, Sunday afternoon by quite a number of friends from Alert Rebekah lodge and a few others, who in some way learned that her birthday anniversary occurred Saturday. They gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Jones, another member of the Rebekahs, and went in a body to her home. They took homemade ice cream and cake, "the best in NEW AMBULANCE the world," with them, and other good things, and enjoyed them, along with very pleasant social time. The hostess was every bit as surprised as her guests wanted her to be, for she did not so much as dream of their coming. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roelofson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Had an Indoor Pienie.

The Amoma class of the First Baptist church Sunday school enjoyed a delightful indoor picnic Saturday evening in Miss Alma Nash's studio. It was the intention to have the picnic in Normal park, but the welcome rain prevented, and no one was sorry. A plendid lunch was served at 6 o'clock. After lunch the guests went to the parlors of the Nash home and listened to a lovely program of music on Dr. and Mrs. Nash's Amberola, an instrument that is the same in appearance as the Victrola and Grafanola. The Amberola differs from the other instruments in that the horn is wood and the needle guiding the record is of platinum, which makes all the tones of voices given and the instrumental music distinct, with not a touch of the metallic sound. Custer's last battle and other descriptive pieces were graphically given, and William J. Bryan's address on "The Immortality of the Soul" was heard so plain that a person in the next room could easily believe that he was indeed listening to the great orator and commoner.

Officials of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institu-tion at Washington are highly pleased over an addition which they have just ade to their collection and which they regard as one of their choicest treasures. This acquisition comprises four sacred bundles or packs of the Osage Indians, very few of which have ever been obtained by scientists, as they are generally buried with their

These sacred bundles are just as precious from a religious standpoint entific standpoint to the ethnologist and are extremely hard to obtain. They represent the holiest fetish of a tribe, and so zealously are they guarded from any profanation that they are put in the charge of a special priest or medicine man, who keeps them carefully hidden. At certain periods carefully hidden. At certain periods they are opened and the contents worshiped amid the most elaborate nies, but even at these times only the chosen men of the tribe are allowed to see the strangely assorted articles that are kept in the bundles.

How They Wore Secured.

The bundles were secured for the National museum by Francis La Fleshe, an educated Omaha Indian, who is in the employ of the bureau of American ethnology. While at work in Oklahoma he learned of the exstence of such bundles and imm ately opened negotiations with the In-dian to whose care they had been in-trusted. After exercising considerable diplomacy he succeeded in persuading the Indian to part with them and took them to Washington and turned them over to the bureau of ethnology One of these was opened with much care by Dr. Walter Hough, one of the curators of the National museum. Dr Hough found the outside wrapping of sack to be made of a rare Indian fab-ric woven of the silky brow hair of the buffalo. This was bound with a buck-skin band decorated with human acaips and the leg of an eagle. Inside this was a buckskin bag, and inside that a haversack made of a material resembling Chinese matting.

Most Sacred Object.

In this haversack were a pipe decorated with scalps, a tobacco bag, a braided cord made of woolen fabric and a bundle of buffalo bladders bound with a thong ornamented with scalps, and one other bundle, which was the most important of all, for it represented the "holy of holies." This bundle was a buckskin object resembling a head band. Inside this bundle was found the most sacred object of the pack—the body of a hawk, which had been mummified and then painted a brilliant vermilion and green. One of the three other bundles was found to contain the tattooing apparatus and materials used by the Geage Indians, all of which are regarded as secred, as the tattooing is a religious coromony. The other two packs were similar to the one described, but the articles each contained were different.

RIGGS HOUSE IS DEMOLISHED

Many Noted Persons Stopped at Famous Washington Hotel.

OFFICE BUILDING IN ITS PLACE!

Procident Harrison Lived There For Years, and Precident Carfield Was a Nightly Patron of the Billiard Room. A Sensational Episode.

Some famous men and women have made their home at the Riggs House, in Washington, which is now being lemolished to make way for a modern office building and theater. Benjamin Harrison lived there for years, James A. Garfield played billiards there night after night while he was president, and others who have a place in history were once familiar figures in its lobby. Susan B. Anthony, Eliza-beth Cady Stanton and Frances Wil-lard were often guests at the hotel. Back in the seventies the Riggs

Back in the seventies the Riggs House was known as "northern head-quarters," where politicians and prominent men from the New England states, New York and Pennsylvania invariably stopped when in Washington. Ten years later the western contingent held away. In the early days when the Riggs House enjoyed the patronage of the New Englanders, the New Yorkers and the Pennsylvanians the sectional line was also closely the sectional line was also closely drawn in other Washington hotels of the period. The Metropolitan, on lower Pennsylvania avenue, was then, as now, the Mecca for southern politicians, near politicians and camp followers. The westerners then coagralowers. The westerners then congre-gated at the National. Millionaires from the Pacific coast and elsewhere stopped at the then New Arlington, which soon will be torn down to make room for the most expensive hotel south of New York. The Ebbitt was the headquarters of the army and quarters elsewhere.

The old Riggs House possessed the only billiard room in Washington ever frequented by a president of the Unit ed States. Here in the early days of 1881, when he was but newly inaugurated to the chief magistracy, came James A. Garfield night after night to play the game with his chums of the new administration. Garfield was much beloved at the Riggs House. His untimely and tragic end brought sorrow to more than one of the employees of the old billiard room, who had known and loved him first as a comparatively obscure member of congress and for the short time as president.

Pulled Governor's Nese.

Major George A. Armes, still living and altogether lively, furnished the most sensational episode of his career in the lobby of the Riggs House. It was on the night of March 5, 1889. Major Armes, already a retired officer of the army, had essayed to serve as a volunteer aid to the chief marshal of

The next night the major appeared in the lobby of the major appeared in the lobby of the Riggs House. Governor Beaver was surrounded by his staff. Walking up to the governor, Major Armes applied two powerful fingers crosswise to Beaver's prominent nose. After he had applied said crossed fingers he also applied pressure and a considerable tweak. Governor Beaver's nose sat slant for weeks. Major Armes was court martialed for the offense and punished by being prohibited from wearing his grand uniform for one year.

Royal Family Arrives at Buckingham Palace.

FORTNIGHT OF EVENTS BEGINS!

rowning of King George Scheduled to Occur on Thursday-Scotland Yard Blamed for Causing Trouble and Perhaps Peril to Visitors.

London, June 19 .- King George and ueen Mary returned to Buckingham alace from Windsor and inaugurated the coronation festivities. The fete will reach its climax Thursday, but soial, political, and state events will rowd each other continuously until uly 1. Semi-state marked the arrival of heir majesties in the metropolis, the rocession from Paddington station to Buckingham palace consisting of andaus drawn by four bays with postillions and escorted by the Royal Horse guards. Large crowds every-where welcomed the king and queen rith cheering and followed them over he whole route.

Most of the royal guests and other pecial missions from abroad have arived. John Hays Hammond, special ambassador from the United States, nade his official entry into the city at oon today. He was met by the Duke Connaught, representing King eorge, and other officials.

Dowager Empress Maria Arrives.

Dowager Empress Maria of Russia, ho will spend the coronation period with Queen Mother Alexandra at Sandringham, was welcomed at the ailroad station by King George and Queen Mary, the Queen Mother Alex-andra and a host of other members of ne royal family and diplomats.

In the meantime, the whole city is reparing for the celebration. All of he hotels are filling up with visitors, tands have been erected to provide viewing spaces along the route of the parade and Scotland Yard and police called from America and the continent are laying plans to protect royalty from violence and the general public from crooks. In connection with the latter, there has been some severe criticism

Scotland Yard is taunted with having given way to a bad case of nerves. Preparations made for dealing with the expected crowds have given rise to protests that London this week is to be inhabited by peaceable citizens and not be a city given over to Gerpan invasion.

The whole route of the royal proces sion has been barred by big wooden gates, which have proved a serious hindrance to traffic and which, it is predicted, may, in case some officials ose their heads this week and order them closed at an inopportune moment, turn out to be a serious danger. As a consequence of the police regulations closing the routes at an early hour in the morning spectators will have excessively long waits before they have a chance of seeing the royal

RULING FAVORS RAILROADS

Complaint on Live Stock Rates to Mississippi River Is Dismissed.

Washington. June 19 .-- In the case affecting the rates on live stock from Kansas City and points in what is known as Kansas territory to St. Louis and other Mississippi river crossings the railroads have won a temporary victory. The result affects Omaha equally with Kansas City. The live stock and principal business organizations of Kansas City protested against the increased rates on live stock which were announced by the railroads crossing Missouri last summer. These higher tariffs were ordered suspended until June 10 of this year pending investigation. The opinion and order of the commission recites that as the proceeding involves the allegation of unjust discrimination and undue preference and advantage as between the live stock markets at Kansas City, Omaha and Chicago, since the commission has before it only the rate from one of these markets, namely Kansas City, it is manifestly impossible upon the issue presented and the record made to come to any conclusions. It is further declared that insofar as the question of reasonsableness is concerned the matter directly involves the larger question of the reasonableness of through transportation charges from points west of Kansas City to the consuming centers of the east, and as there are not before the commission the proper parties or the necessary information, no conclusion can be reached upon the issue in this proceed-

For these reasons the suspension of the rates involved will not be further continued and the order suspending them is cancelled without prejudice to any of the interests involved.

General Diaz made this statement: at least a year would put down the revolution. I desired to prevent the spilling of the blood of the children of my country in the fratracidal struggle and above all to avoid the possibility of an international conflict.

A member of General Diaz's suite said the principal reason for his visit to Paris was to consult a specialist with reference to the abscess from which Diaz still suffers greatly.

The reception lasted for several hours. The guests were received by the president and Miss Helen Taft who has just returned from visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Anderson, in Cincinnati. Mrs. Taft was with the president, but did not receive the guests, as this would have been too severe a strain upon her.

The White House tonight will be outlined with electric lights around the portico and terraces, and an elec-tric banner showing the dates, "1886 and 1911." will show on the lawn, while a massive electric flag will wave from the south portico. Spotlights playing on the fountain will be another feature of the spectacle

Many Gifts Received.

Surveying the great pile of presents and mass of letters that have poured into the White House for several days past, President Tafe remarked to a group of newspaper men, with a broad mile, an enlargement of the famous Taft smile:

"All this is for the president of the United States, boys-Mrs. Taft.'

Really the White House today would put to shame almost any jewelry store in the country. Every conceivable, and some almost inconceivable, ar ticle of silverware for household and personal use is included in the list of presents marking the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage June 19, Freezers, Ice Picks, Ice Shavers, etc. 1886, of Helen Herron, the beautiful young Cincinnati belle, to William Howard Taft, the rising young attorney of the same city

There are massive silver dinner services and humble silver spoons with pretty much everything between. Every stratum of society is represented in the list of presents.

King George and Queen Mary took time from the tremendous tasks on their hands in connection with the coronation this week to send a handsome remembrance. Kaiser Wilhelm also showed his kindly feeling to wards America and the American "I abandoned power when I became chief executive by sending an appro-

The senate and the house of representatives chipped in for handsome silver services. Members of the supreme court, diplomats, cabinet ministers, American ambassadors, men of lower degree, personal and family friends and lowly admirers of the president all are represented in the splendid collection

It is doubtful if ever the celebrants of a silver wedding were so universally remembered. A list of the presents would read like a catalogue of a silver manufacturing concern.

The letters and telegrams come from all parts of the world Miss Torrey Attends.

Not the least interested and important of the guests is the president's aunt, Miss Delia Torrey, whose fame tic to the Pacific. Other relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Taft present are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft and two sons Horace Taft, Mrs. Charles Anderson eldest sister of Mrs. Taft, and Miss Maria Herron.

The most interesting group of guests is the descendants and relatives of the former presidents.

A crowd of 750 fans watched Willclip against his former teammates, the Comets, in yesterday's game at Riffe's And he was flinging some ball, too. Oswalt kept pretty close to Willford's heels in the flinging contest, and the game put up by the locals would very seldom lose.

The game was featured with many brilliant plays, and the double by Bacom and Dietz in the seventh stands out strongly among them. With one down Bradley singled and Burton drew a pass. Oswalt balked, putting the runners on second and third. The score at this point of the game was 2 to 1 in the visitors' favor. Mann stepped to the plate and tried to squeeze Bradley in, but Dietz lost no time in fielding the bunt, threw to first, where Bacom tagged Mann ten feet off the base and returned the ball in time to catch the runner at home In the last half of that same inning Willford pulled himself out of a tight hole. Black had singled, Oswalt fanned, and Sackett had received a pass, when a passed ball put the runners on second and third. Dietz's bunt went safe, when Black refused to run on his orders for a squeeze and the bases were filled. Willford fielded Wintz's grounder and threw Black out at the plate. Cook then failed to connect, fanning for the curtain sig-

Nebraska City registered one in the first. Bradley walked and Burton sac rificed him to second. He took third on a passed ball and scored on Manns fly to DeCamp. Hicklin's fly to Cook furnished the finish. Their second tally came in the fourth. Hicklin and Fields. Nee singled. Woodruff was cut off at first. Phillips took first on a fielder's choice, Nee being forced out at second. Herman singled scoring Hicklin, and Willford fanned.

Oswalt started the Comets in the fifth, when with two down he reefed a three-bagger into right. Sackett popped a short fly back of second base, which fell safe when Hicklin Brake, Woodruff and Burton each begged the other to field it. This put Oswalt safely across

Dietz singled and Wintz went the way of the third out, from Willford

Cook scored the second run unaided in the sixth, when he pounded out a homer to left. The ball hit the turf back of short and never stopped until it went through the bedge.

Nebraska City scored again in the eighth and ninth. A triple by Hicklin and a single by Nee doing the business in the eighth. In the ninth, with one down, Bradley singled and stole second. Burton was out at first and Bradley came home for the final tally when Sackett's rather bay peg to first

SACRED CONCERT WAS OF UNUSUAL MERIT

The sacred concert given at the Presbyterian church Sunday night by Miss Mildred Morrison, assisted by Mr. Ralph Eversole and the choir, was of unusual merit. The church was crowded with admirers of Miss Mor rison's who wished to avail themselves of the only opportunity to hear her sing during her present stay in town. And it certainly was a pleasure to sit and listen to the clear, rich tones of her gifted voice. One of Miss Morrison's strongest points, found in few singers, is her ability to choose selections of the highest class which give the greatest range of her voice and which are at the same time pleas ing to any audience.

Miss Morrison was most ably ac companied on the organ by Mr. Eversole and the solos also played by him were appreciated as usual for their merit and execution.

The entire program harmonized and was fitting for the occasion, and ...0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0-2 many of the congregation were loth to leave at the close.

MARYVILLE HOTELS WILL GET 100 BIBLES

Two representatives of the Gideons vere in Maryville Sunday to see about placing a Bible in every room of the hotels of the town.

The Gideons were organized twelve years ago among the commercial travlers of America, and their purpose is a purely Christian organization for the traveling men. Two years ago they undertook to place a Bible in each o sent him away from Maryville and lost the 500,000 hotel rooms in this country, and today they have 125,000 of Walter Wray was taken to Auburn these Bibles placed throughout the country. They are now putting Bibles in the hotels at the rate of 60,000 per nonth

> The two representatives who were here yesterday spoke in the different churches in regard to their work. The said that it would take about 12 Bibles for the hotels of Maryville, and they hoped to be able to furnish them The members of the Gideon band fur nish these Bibles by their own efforts and ask for no contributions of any kind. They receive a great amount of help, however, from outside people who are interested in the work

The Bibles are especially interesting in that each one has pasted inside the front cover a set of references which apply especially to the traveling men -references which apply in cases of poor sales, generally bad business con ditions, homesickness, etc.

The most effective speech that has een made thus far on the tariff question was made the other day by Hon. William C. Redfield of Brooklyn, N. Y. another new member. Mr Redfield is a business man and spoke from a business man's viewpoint, one who had studied the question in all its aspects as affecting his interests. He is a large manufacturer of machinery and engines, and as a manufacturer declares that protection is a fraud. He is the sort of business man that knows exactly by a scientific cost system what every department of his business and every room is doing, whether it is shoving a profit or a loss.

Mr. Redfield sells his products in all parts of the world and has visited and studied the conditions in all the principal countries. mer speakers of the house a few days defeat it as it came from the house, ago the chief clerk found that the they hoped to do indirectly what they name plates that are attached to them | could not do directly. This was the neans taken to defeat the bill in the senate last session, and because of the Sutherland amendment it did not get through the senate. Mr. Bristow voted against that amendment, but seems to have experienced a change of heart, as the amendment he proposed is almost identical with the one proposed by Senator Sutherland

Professing to believe that the states with large colored populations may not accord to the colored brother his orator, he was given the closest at- full measure of participation in the selections of senators, they propose to place these elections under federal supervision. This violates a principle as old as the states themselves. The and crowded around him to get the matter of electing senators and representatives to congress belongs entirely to the states and should be left entirely with them. Hampering it with federal supervision is entirely foreign to the original purpose of the proposition, which was to give to the people of each state full and free opportunity to express their individual preferences at the ballot box and to make them effective.

The vote upon this amendment was a tle, and it required the vote of the vice president to carry it. A question has arisen as to whether he had the right to vote on a question which in itself in not legislation, many of the ablest lawyers of the senate assert the house in order to thresh out that question and was beaten by a tie vote on that. It is a memorable victory, in view of the long fight that has leen waged for it, to get this much of a oncession from the senate, but if the house should not accept the amendcent, he proposition will yet win. These sacred bundles are just as precious from a religious standpoint to the Indian as they are from a sci-They represent the holiest fetish of a tribe, and so zealously are they guarded from any profanation that they are put in the charge of a special priest or medicine man, who keeps them carefully hidden. At certain periods they are opened and the contents worshiped amid the most elaborate Mrs. M. G. How They Were Secured.

The bundles were secured for the National museum by Francis Fleshe, an educated Omaha Indian, who is in the employ of the bureau of American ethnology. While at work in Oklahoma he learned of the existence of such bundles and immediately opened negotiations with the Indian to whose care they had been in trusted. After exercising considerable diplomacy he succeeded in persuading the Indian to part with them and took them to Washington and turned them over to the bureau of ethnology One of these was opened with much care by Dr. Walter Hough, one of the curators of the National museum. Dr. Hough found the outside wrapping or sack to be made of a rare Indian fabric woven of the silky brow hair of the buffalo. This was bound with a buck scalps and the leg of an eagle. RIGGS HOUSE IS DEMOLISHED

Many Noted Persons Stopped at Famous Washington Hotel.

OFFICE BUILDING IN ITS PLAGE

President Harrison Lived There For Years, and President Garfield Was a Nightly Patron of the Billiard Room. A Sensational Episode.

Some famous men and women have made their home at the Riggs House, in Washington, which is now being demolished to make way for a modern office building and theater. Benjamin Harrison lived there for years, James A. Garfield played billiards there night after night while he was president, and others who have a place in history were once familiar figures in Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Frances Willard were often guests at the hotel.

Back in the seventies the Riggs House was known as "northern headquarters," where politicians and prom inent men from the New England states. New York and Pennsylvania invariably stopped when in Washington. Ten years later the western con tingent held sway. In the early days when the Riggs House enjoyed the patronage of the New Englanders, the ew Yorkers and the Pennsylvanians the sectional line was also closely drawn in other Washington hotels of the period. The Metropolitan, on lower Pennsylvania avenue, was then, as now, the Mecca for southern politicians, near politicians and camp followers. The westerners then congregated at the National. Millionaires from the Pacific coast and elsewhere stopped at the then New Arlington, which soon will be torn down to make room for the most expensive hotel south of New York. The Ebbitt was the headquarters of the army and

The old Riggs House possessed the only billiard room in Washington ever frequented by a president of the United States. Here in the early days of 1881, when he was but newly inaugurated to the chief magistracy, came James A. Garfield night after night to play the game with his chums of the new administration. Garfield was much beloved at the Riggs House. His untimely and tragic end brought sor row to more than one of the employees of the old billiard room, who had known and loved him first as a comparatively obscure member of congress and for the short time as presi-

Governor Beaver of Pennsylvania, a one legged survivor of the repulse of Pickett's charge, was grand marshal of the Harrison inaugural parade. In the course of that parade Governor Beaver decried the proud form of Mafor Armes carolling up the avenue in the rain. The governor ordered a subaltern to "get the hook." Major Armes, protesting vigorously that he would parade and nobody could throw him out when he was dressed up, was finally squeiched. The next night the major appeared in the lobby of the Riggs House. Governor Beaver was surrounded by his staff. Walking up to the governor, Major Armes applied two powerful fingers crosswise to Beaver's prominent nose. After he had applied said crossed fingers he also applied pressure and a considerable tweak. Governor Beaver's nose sat slant for weeks. Major Armes was court martialed for the offense and punished by being prohibited from wearing his grand uniform for one

FORTNIGHT OF EVENTS BEGINS PRINCTAU'S MOTOR EXPLODES

Crowning of King George Scheduled to Occur on Thursday-Scotland Yard Blamed for Causing Trouble and Perhaps Peril to Visitors.

London, June 19 .- King George and Queen Mary returned to Buckingham palace from Windsor and inaugurated the coronation festivities. The fete will reach its climax Thursday, but social, political, and state events will crowd each other continuously until Semi-state marked the arrival of their majesties in the metropolis, the procession from Paddington station to Buckingham palace consisting of landaus drawn by four bays with postillions and escorted by the Royal Horse guards. Large crowds everywhere welcomed the king and queen with cheering and followed them over the whole route.

Most of the royal guests and other special missions from abroad have arrived. John Hays Hammond, special ambassador from the United States made his official entry into the city at noon today. He was met by the Duke of Connaught, representing King George, and other officials.

Dowager Empress Maria Arrives. Dowager Empress Maria of Russia who will spend the coronation period with Queen Mother Alexandra at Sandringham, was welcomed at the railroad station by King George and Queen Mary, the Queen Mother Alexandra and a host of other members of the royal family and diplomats.

In the meantime, the whole city is preparing for the celebration. All of the hotels are filling up with visitors, stands have been erected to provide viewing spaces along the route of the parade and Scotland Yard and police called from America and the continent are laying plans to protect royalty from violence and the general public from crooks. In connection with the latter, there has been some severe criticism

The whole route of the royal procession has been barred by big wooden gates, which have proved a serious hindrance to traffic and which, it is predicted, may, in case some officials ose their heads this week and order them closed at an inopportune moment, turn out to be a serious danger. As a consequence of the police regulations closing the routes at an early hour in the morning spectators will have excessively long waits before they have a chance of seeing the royal

Complaint on Live Stock Rates to Mississippi River Is Dismissed.

Washington, June 19 .- In the case mittee tomorrow. affecting the rates on live stock from Kansas City and points in what is known as Kansas territory to St. Louis and other Mississippi river crossings the railroads have won a temporary victory. The result affects Omaha equally with Kansas City. The his knowledge of the so called "jack live stock and principal business organizations of Kansas City protested against the increased rates on live stock which were announced by the railroads crossing Missouri last summer. These higher tariffs were ordered suspended until June 10 of this year pending investigation.

The opinion and order of the commission recites that as the proceeding involves the allegation of unjust disrimination and undue preference and advantage as between the live stock markets at Kansas City, Omaha and Chicago, since the commission has before it only the rate from one of these markets, namely Kansas City, it is manifestly impossible upon the issue presented and the record made to come to any conclusions. It is further declared that insofar as the question of reasonsableness is concerned the matter directly involves the larger question of the reasonableness of through transportation charges from points west of Kansas City to the consuming centers of the east, and as there are not before the commission the proper parties or the necessary information, no conclusion can be reached upon the issue in this proceed-

For these reasons the suspension of the rates involved will not be further continued and the order suspending them is cancelled without prejudice to any of the interests involved.

A member of General Diaz's suite said the principal reason for his visito Paris was to consult a specialist with reference to the abscess from which Diaz still suffers greatly.

SILVER WEDDING AT WHITE HOUSE

Reception of President and Mrs. Taff a Big Social Event.

GREAT MASSES OF PRESENTS.

of King George and Queen Mary this week will be on a scale of far greater magnitude and magnificence than the silver wedding anniversary of President and Mrs. William H. Taft today neous and heartfelt tribute of a great been called to rule over its destinies

The formal reception today is one of the greatest social functions Washington has seen for many years. In vitations were sent to more than 4,000 people to be present at the reception The White House is decorated with June roses and clusters of flowers, and the entrance resembles a garden walk with flowering plants and palms Through these the guests passed to the East room, where a program of music by the United States Marine band was furnished.

The reception lasted for severa at high pressure were employed. In hours. The guests were received by many places the material covering the the president and Miss Helen Taft decks and filling the interior spaces who has just returned from visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Anderson, in Cincinnati. Mrs. Taft was with the president, but did not receive the cents each guests, as this would have been too

The White House tonight will be outlined with electric lights around the portico and terraces, and an elec tric banner showing the dates, "1886 and 1911," will show on the lawn, while a massive electric flag will wave Vinita, Okla. from the south portico. Spotlights playing on the fountain will be another feature of the spectacle.

Many Gifts Received.

Surveying the great pile of presents and mass of letters that have poured ern. See George Pat Wright. . 9-tf into the White House for several days past, President Tafe remarked to a group of newspaper men, with a broad smile, an enlargement of the famous Taft smile:

"All this is for the president of the wages. The Linville.

United States, boys-Mrs. Taft." Really the White House today would put to shame almost any jewelry store in the country. Every conceivable, and some almost inconceivable ar ticle of silverware for household and personal use is included in the list of presents marking the twenty-fifth an niversary of the marriage June 19, 1886, of Helen Herron, the beautiful young Cincinnati belle, to William Howard Taft, the rising young attorney of the same city.

There are massive silver dinner services and humble silver spoons with pretty much everything between. Every stratum of society is represented in the list of presents.

King George and Queen Mary took time from the tremendous tasks on their hands in connection with the coronation this week to send a handed with cheering people escorted the some remembrance. Kaiser Wilhelm also showed his kindly feeling towards America and the American chief executive by sending an appropriate token.

The senate and the house of representatives chipped in for handsome Members of the susilver services. preme court, diplomats, cabinet ministers. American ambassadors, men of lower degree personal and family friends and lowly admirers of the have been practically free from kidney president all are represented in the splendid collection.

It is doubtful if ever the celebrants of a silver wedding were so universally remembered. A list of the presents would read like a catalogue of a silver manufacturing concern. The letters and telegrams come from all parts of the world.

Miss Torrey Attends.

Not the least interested and import ant of the guests is the president's aunt, Miss Delia Torrey, whose fame as a pie baker extends from the Atlantie to the Pacific. Other relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Taft present are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft and two sons Horace Taft, Mrs. Charles Anderson eldest sister of Mrs. Taft, and Miss Maria Herron

The most interesting group of guests is the descendants and relatives of the former presidents.
